

Let's draw a simple rabbit
(a girl)with a bonnet!

Using simple lines, shapes and colors

Example

I know that some of you may only have pencil and paper. That is o.k. Remember this is about having fun. If you have markers or crayons you can use those to draw with too.

First turn your paper in a VERTICAL position. That is long and tall.

At the top of your paper draw an upside down U.

Next draw a line under the U.

This is the beginning of the bonnet (hat).

Adding rabbit ears

Use an oval shape. You can make it pointed at the top if you want.

Place an oval on each side of the hat to create a bunny ear. After that, add a smaller oval inside each ear to make the inside of the rabbit's ear.

Now it is time to create the floppy part of the hat.

Draw a curved diagonal line on each side of the hat.

Next, you will draw a line to connect the bottom of the hat.

Your rabbit's hat is complete (except for the patterns).

You will add colors too if you have crayons, markers or paint.

Now it is time to draw the line for the face. It is like drawing the letter U. Remember to make the U fit the bonnet (hat).

Start your line for the U so it is the same size as the upside down U.

Then the face will be the right size for the hat.

Drawing your bunny rabbit's face

Draw your eyes first.

You can make your eyes however you want.

Add eyelashes if you like.

I drew my nose with a tiny heart, you can use whatever shape you want to use.

Next, add a U starting from the center of the nose. Then add another U on the other side. Now your bunny has a nose.

Add a few dots on either side of the mouth and then add whiskers.

You can add teeth if you want, rabbits have 2 BIG front teeth.

Now add the collar to your bunnies' dress

Make a curvy line on each side of the bottom of your bunny rabbit's face.

You can make the line connecting the collar with a zig zag line, a wavy line, or a series of the letter U.

You decide. Remember YOU are the artist , I am just helping you to learn how to draw a cartoon bunny.

Now it is time to draw our rabbit's body. (the dress)

Make a diagonal line on either side of the rabbit's collar.

It is sort of like making a triangle.

Adding the arms and paws to your Rabbit

Draw a line from the edge of the collar and connect it with a line to the side of her dress.

Think of it like drawing a backwards L on one side and a regular L on the other side.

Now do the same on the other side.

Then add a U to each arm to create the rabbit's paw.

Add a few lines to show detail.

Now it is time to add whatever patterns you want to place on your rabbits bonnet and dress

If you have color pencils, paints, markers or crayons decorate your patterns and color your rabbit.

I hope you had fun!

Next I will show you how to make a boy rabbit.
